Outsource to America

Considering the challenges in disruption of business operations and limitations of traditional offshore models, predicated on large-scale labor arbitrage, and the issues of security, time zones, proximity, equipment, connectivity, privacy, and the host country's national interest, one cannot imagine a more compelling reason to bring work back onshore.

GalaxE's Outsource programs focus IT spend on workforce redevelopment and diversity & inclusion in targeted cities using public/private partnerships with GalaxE, core customers, state educational institutions, and local & federal government. It places further emphasis on community revitalization for those living in urban and underserved communities, with a primary aim to promote economic development by advancing technology employment.

GalaxE supports a diverse range of services, including data processing and business consulting services in the fields of project management, information technology programming, and information technology systems, enabling us to contribute to both business growth and community enhancement.
